Office Hours: Monday: 10:00a-11:50a, Wednesday 10:00a-10:50a

Required Materials

The recitation sections will use the same textbook that is used for lecture. There are no additional materials required.

Recitation Activities

As stated in the lecture syllabus, recitation activities will contribute to a student's overall final grade for the course. These activities may be quizzes, group work, etc. We will do something worth points every time we meet, so attendance is encouraged. In addition to these activities, we will work through homework problems and examples that will complement the topics covered in lecture. No make-ups will be allowed.

Disability Statement

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics supports providing equal access for students with disabilities. If you need accommodations for a disability please talk to me or the Disability Resource Center in the Pennington Student Achievement Center, Room 230, as soon as possible.
